Khrushchev Tells West To Keep Hands Off Congo

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned the West Friday to keep hands off the Congo.

Repeating his charge that the faltering new nation is a target of imperialist aggression, Khrushchev declared the Soviet Union will take resolute countermeasures if this continues.

"The demand of the Soviet Union is simple—hands off the Republic of the Congo!" he said in a message to Congo President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba.

"The government of the Congo can be assured that the Soviet Republic will give the Congo Republic the necessary help which may be required for the victory of your just cause."

Doesn't Define "Help"

Khrushchev did not say what he meant by "necessary help."

As in similar statements concerning Suez and Cuba, this left the Kremlin in a position to claim a victory no matter which way the situation goes.

In 1956 the Soviet Union threatened to send "volunteers" to fight for Egypt unless Britain, France and Israel broke off an invasion of Egypt. That fighting ended after the United States also condemned the attacks.

Last Saturday Khrushchev pledged support for Cuba and received himself a "hands off" warning from the United States, which said action by international communism in the Western Hemisphere could not be tolerated.

An almost daily series of Khrushchev speeches, notes and declarations must be creating an impression among Soviet newspaper readers that Western nations are rushing hell-bent toward an aggressive war.

Ticket Problems Face Republicans

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Republican State Committee is having ticket problems for the party's national convention in Chicago later this month.

State Chairman George I. Bloom disclosed that he has been swamped with requests for guest tickets. The national committee allotted Pennsylvania only 204 spectators' tickets, he said, and he won't be able to meet all the demands for these seats.

The GOP convention starts July 25.

Boy Prisoner Escapes Police

WILKES-BARRE (AP) — A 17-year-old Pittston boy, brought to Juvenile Court for hearings on stolen car charges, escaped Friday when he said he was going to the lavatory.

Police are seeking Salvatore Buscemi. He is described as five feet, seven inches in height, weighing 145 pounds and with black hair and brown eyes.

Bunche Directs UN Unit

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld Friday night put Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche in temporary command of the new U.N. force of African troops in the Congo—600 strong and growing fast.

He did so after dispatches from Leopoldville told how British Maj. Gen. Henry T. Alexander, commanding Ghanaian troops flown there for the force, had acted on his own to forestall a street riot in that Congo capital.

Hammarskjöld, a Swede, cabled Bunche, an American Negro civilian, that he was to be commander of the forces until the arrival of Swedish Maj. Gen. Carl Carlsson von Horn, appointed Thursday to the command post. Von Horn is expected in Leopoldville Sunday night. He was to have flown there Friday from Jerusalem, where he has headed the U. N.'s Palestine truce supervision organization, but his flight arrangements broke down.

Food From India

The U. N. said India, in response to a plea from Hammarskjöld for food for the Congo, had agreed to send 1,000 tons of wheat there.

It disclosed that a staging area for the forces had been set up at Kano, Nigeria, where there is a big British-built airfield.

Tibbett Dies; After Surgery For Injury

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawrence Tibbett, 63, famed baritone whose singing career ranged from the Metropolitan Opera to radio, motion pictures and Broadway musicals, died Friday at Roosevelt Hospital.

He had undergone an operation June 27 for an old head injury. A hospital spokesman said Tibbett had been unconscious since the operation.

He was an all-around singer, both for the masses and the musical elite. Unlike many opera stars, who shun the common entertainment media, Tibbett put his talents to work in all kinds of musical productions.

Tibbett began his career singing in theaters and churches, first in his native California and later in the New York vicinity. He hit stardom suddenly.

Solo Did It

That was on a night of Jan. 2, 1925, at the Metropolitan Opera House, where he sang the part of Ford in Verdi's "Falstaff." The famed Italian baritone Scotti had the title role.

He was born in Bakersfield, Calif., Nov. 16, 1896. Tibbett was the son of the Kern County sheriff there. His father was killed in a gun battle with bandits when the future singer was six years old. Later the family moved to Los Angeles.

Tibbett's final Met performance was Jan. 21, 1949.

Republicans Pressuring Rockefeller

By Jack Bell

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Republicans began putting pressure on Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York Friday to take second place on a presidential ticket headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

But they may need more than the example of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's acceptance of the Democratic vice-presidential nomination to put their drive across.

In some ways the New York governor and the Texas senator are in similar political positions. Both are big men in their parties, with special appeals to some segments of the electorate.

Johnson obviously was chosen by Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic presidential nominee, to help the party ticket in the South, where some difficult shoals appear to lie ahead.

As a middle of the road, Johnson is credited with having some appeal to Republican voters. But it is doubtful that his presence on the ticket will lure any sizable number of them to support Kennedy.

Rockefeller's high political value to the Republicans lies in his demonstrated ability to attract independent voters. He had to have more than regular Republican support to get elected governor of New York.

Since he has been in that post Rockefeller has been talking at times like a Democrat. He has assailed the Eisenhower administration's defense program in words strikingly similar to those used by Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and other Democrats.

Nixon is fully aware that the Republicans as a party are outnumbered nationally. He knows he is going to have to vote Democratic and independent voters to win.

For that reason, Nixon obviously would be happy to have Rockefeller as his running mate, despite the differences that have cropped up between them over some vital domestic policies.

But the prospect of playing second fiddle to Nixon is not alluring to Rockefeller. He has a big job, possibly second only to the presidency itself. He has two more years to build his record before running for re-election.

If Nixon loses and Rockefeller can get himself re-elected governor two years from now, he will have what amounts to a lead pipe cinch to get the 1964 Republican presidential nomination. If Nixon wins and Rockefeller remains governor, he would be the most available candidate in 1968.

Flares, Northern Lights Or Both?

Unusual Light Displays Observed

"LOOKS LIKE a crescent over the whole sky," said Mrs. May Dalesio as she and Lake Valhalla neighbors watched strange appearing lights in the sky last night.

"They move like clouds and the lights keep shooting from them," she continued.

Bud Stann, another neighbor, said they looked "all white and light waves seem to be running through them."

Stann came to the conclusion it was "the aurora borealis. But when told the Navy was conducting experiments in the dropping of varied bright flares from an airplane in the Fort Dix, N.J., area, he was confused.

Another viewer was No. 1 Dietrich, county director of the Soil Conservation Service. He said the phenomenon appeared from the Northwest to the Northeast.

"A very good display of Northern lights (aurora borealis)," he said.

Dietrich was situated along

Route 611 about two miles north of the Stroud Shopping Center.

"Never seen it as many waves, very unusual that it doesn't have color, though," the conservationist claimed.

Dietrich was puzzled, he said, because he didn't think they (the northern lights) come out until later in the year. But he was sure they were the auroras.

The Navy also reported that these flares are visible for 130 miles and suggested that the public be not unduly alarmed. But the lights appeared to the north of the Stroudsburg, Fort Dix is to the south of the Poconos. Perhaps there were two unusual displays.

The evidence furnished by the viewers strongly suggests that they were aurora borealis, however.

They are described as a luminous phenomenon visible only at night. Sometimes it assumes a waving appearance, sometimes a variety of colors.

Taxpayers To Confer With D. A.

MOUNT BETHEL — A committee from the Upper Mount Bethel Taxpayers Assn. will meet with District Attorney Andrew Horster in Easton Monday at 10 a.m. to discuss a plan of action for the salary-splitting of members of the Upper Mount Bethel School Board.

Horster informed the association last night that he would cooperate with them 100 percent in any action they wanted to take to correct the situation.

At the general meeting of the association to be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Portland Fire Hall, the board of directors will ask that the recommendations of Horster be followed.

Also at that meeting officers will be elected for the new year and further plans of action will be discussed in what the association describes as a salary kick-back involving school board members.

The directors will also have a committee present at the groundbreaking ceremonies today for the new Bangor Area High School.

Lighted Bullet Injures Boy

WILKES-BARRE (AP) — A 12-year-old boy was injured when he and a friend fired a .38-caliber bullet with a lighted match. It was disclosed Friday at Juvenile Court.

The two Pittston youths stole several .38-caliber bullets from a Port Blanchard store, police said.

One of the youths touched a lighted match to the cartridge and it exploded, the court was told. The pellet struck him in the arm.

The court sent the two to the Industrial School for Boys at detention cottage at Kis-Lyn Drums to await further investigation.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Time was called in the second inning because of dense fog in Candlestick Park Friday night with the Los Angeles Dodgers leading the San Francisco Giants 3-0. Play was resumed after a delay of 24 minutes.

Mixed Reaction Greets Kennedy-Johnson Slate

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Northern liberals manfully swallowed the Kennedy-Johnson ticket Friday. Southerners like it quite well.

There were exceptions, of course—to be expected in a party so diverse and excitable. On the extremes, there was unhappiness North and South.

One of those who swallowed hard was Minnesota's liberal governor, Orville L. Freeman, who has regarded Sen. Lyndon B.

Johnson of Texas as too far to the right.

"We're satisfied with the ticket," Freeman said. "We'll work for it."

On the other hand, two Californians with much the same political philosophy as Freeman went all-out in embracing Johnson as the running mate of Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

"I am proud to support Sen.

Johnson's nomination," said Sen. Clair Engle.

"He will bring real strength to the campaign," declared Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

From the other end of the nation, former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York expressed fear that Johnson's assignment to the ticket will cost Democrats the votes of many Negroes and Liberals.

But Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York, outspoken Negro congressman and minister, was in Johnson's camp.

Along the North-South borderline, an enthusiastic Johnson man was Gov. Bert Conns of Kentucky. He saw an opportunity to make the South solid once again.

Matthew E. Welsh, Indiana's Democratic nominee for governor, said industrial Indiana was so strong for Kennedy, "it doesn't make much difference who is running with him."

A man with much interest in the farm vote, National Committeeman David G. Kelly of North Dakota, said, "Johnson has never let agriculture down."

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan may have been the unhappiest of all with the selection of Johnson by Kennedy.

"A mistake... sorry and disappointed," was Williams' reaction. He found some solace in that he was "given to understand" that Johnson would campaign on the ultraliberal platform the convention has adopted.

The platform got through without a Southern walkout, mainly because the Southern delegations kept quiet lest it befall Johnson's try for the presidential nomination.

But its strong civil rights plank still rankled some from Dixie. "I don't see how Mississippi can take the platform on which they must run," Gov. Ross Barnett protested.

Former Gov. Millard Caldwell of Florida, another Johnson-for-president man, just couldn't get over Johnson accepting second place.

"The hell he has!" erupted Caldwell at the news. "I'm sorry he took it."

Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida, on the other hand, said the fact Johnson did take it made him think "we can carry the South."

Agreeing with Collins were Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee, and, to a degree, Gov. John Patterson of Alabama. Gov. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia and Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina reserved comment.

Second Bear Struck Near Mt. Pocono

MOUNT POCONO—A 22-year-old Honesdale student got acquainted with the "bear" facts of life yesterday—at a cost of approximately $500.

According to State Police here, Thomas S. Gitch of 300 17th St., Honesdale, was driving his convertible sports car north on Route 611, about one mile south of here, when it crashed into a bear as it ran across the road on a curve.

The bear jumped up after the impact and disappeared into the woods. The $500 represents the demolition of the front end of Gitch's car. No one was injured in the 6:15 p.m. accident.

In a similar accident May 11, a bear was struck by an automobile just south of the railroad viaduct at Mount Pocono. The animal was so badly injured that it had to be destroyed.

Farmer Convicted As Bank Robber

SCRANTON (AP) — A federal jury Friday found a dairy farmer guilty of a $2,219 robbery at the First National Bank of East Smithfield.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated a little over an hour before returning the verdict against Paul J. McCarthy, 29, of Elmira, N. Y.

Judge John W. Murphy of U. S. District Court said he would delay sentencing until the defendant's background and record have been investigated. The judge ordered bail for McCarthy raised from $5,000 to $10,000. The conviction carries a maximum sentence of a $10,000 fine and 25 years in jail on each count of a two-count indictment.

Record To Cover Fashion Showings

THE long and short of "It," the straight and full of "It," the wool and fur of "It," as well as the jeweled and bareness of "It" will be brought to you, all next week on the Family Fare Page of The Daily Record.

"It" is the fashion picture for Fall as presented during the New York Couture Group showings at the 35th National Press Week, July 17-22.

This year's fashion story will be reported to The Daily Record by Mrs. Judith Doty of the Middletown, N. Y., Daily Record. All details are being kept under lock and key and away from the presses until next week when they will be reported in full detail with words and pictures.

Advance information does promise that the clothes this season are planned to reflect a woman's self-appraising, adventurous personal taste rather than her meek submission to "fashion dictates."

Silks, furs, jewels, hairstyles, wools, tweeds, velvets and brocades will all be included in showings by top name designers during the week.

Watch for these reports starting Monday.

Accepts New Frontier Challenge

LOS ANGELES COLISEUM (AP) — John F. Kennedy gratefully accepted the Democratic presidential nomination Friday night with a pledge to meet the challenges of a New Frontier and to lead "our nation back to greatness."

Kennedy set off the first barrage of his new campaign and beamed a salvo directly at Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

His prospective Republican opponent, he said, is another young man, "but his approach is as old as McKinley. His speeches are generalities from Poor Richard's Almanac."

Followers Cheer

Tens of thousands of the Democratic faithful cheered. And they gave Kennedy a heavy hand when he raised right at the outset the issue of his Roman Catholic faith.

In dealing with the question of his religion, Kennedy said, "I am fully aware of the fact that the Democratic party, by nominating someone of my faith, has taken on what many regard as a new and hazardous risk—new, at least since 1928."

He continued: "But I look at it this way: The Democratic party has once again placed its confidence in the American people, and in their ability to render a free, fair judgment."

"And you have, at the same time, placed your confidence in me, and in my ability to render a free, fair judgment—to uphold the Constitution and my oath of office—and to reject any kind of religious pressure or obligation that might directly or indirectly interfere with my conduct of the presidency in the national interest."

Titles Speech

"The New Frontier" was the way Kennedy titled his 21-minute acceptance speech.

It is, he said, "a frontier of unknown opportunities and perils at a turning point in history."

The man on whom the Democrats have bestowed the highest honor they can offer, beckoned to Americans of all political convictions to step to his side to become pioneers on this new frontier even though it "holds out the promise of more sacrifice instead of more security."

He appealed to everyone within reach of his voice—uncounted millions watching and listening by television and radio sets—to give him their help and votes.

Another huge roar rolled around the vast reaches of this huge arena, which was about two-thirds full with an estimated 60,000 persons.

Minutes later, the convention adjourned.

The Massachusetts senator shared the accolades of the evening with the senator from Texas, Lyndon B. Johnson.

To Johnson fell the Democratic vice presidential nomination. And he accepted in another address.

Kennedy and his running mate motored to the Coliseum in a pair of snappy convertibles.

Johnson was ahead—the only time he had been out in front of Kennedy during the whole Democratic National Convention.

The Democratic partisans set up a thunderous roar when Kennedy drove right onto the playing field and circled the huge bowl.

Side by side in dark blue suits, Kennedy and Johnson sat on the speaker's stand, a good home run clout from home plate.

They squinted into a lowering sun, through half a dozen preliminary talks—by all the men, and others, who also had aspired to the presidency.

Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the Democratic choice for the presidency and a man who was willing this time, introduced a war veteran Kennedy as a man whose "passion for peace was bred in the agony of war."

Stevenson spoke of "this epoch of illusion through which we have passed" and proclaimed that Friday night there was: "A new and splendid beginning for the Democratic party and for America."

I'M SERIOUS!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Mark	4	26-32
Monday	Matthew	25	1-13
Tuesday	John	6	1-14
Wednesday	Ephesians	6	1-4
Thursday	Proverbs	22	1-6
Friday	Psalms	103	13-18
Saturday	Matthew	18	1-6

Maybe you like smiling babies? Sorry to disappoint you, but I've got a lot on my mind.

There's something wrong in America . . . and I'm the chap who is getting hurt!

Our Constitution says that no one can be denied the right to worship God. I'm an American! According to the Constitution I have the right to learn about God, to hear the Bible Stories, to be taught the Christian Way of Life.

But here's the hitch. While the Government can't deny me the right to attend Church School and Church — MY PARENTS CAN. They can rob me of my most sacred right just by neglecting my spiritual needs.

Did you know that about half the children in America are growing up without religious training? And yet there's a church in every village!

Yessir, I'm serious! Instead of talking about juvenile delinquency, we ought to do something about it. We ought to crowd our churches with children . . . and parents! And we ought to start Sunday!

Expanding Knowledge

Scientists on occasion have tried to deal responsibly with the human and political consequences of the forces their knowledge unleashes.

All too often their efforts have been misunderstood or, worse, misdirected by groups intent on partisan advantage.

Recognizing this and moved by the urgent need to improve "the interaction between scientific progress and public affairs," the American Association for the Advancement of Science has called for a bold program of public enlightenment.

To collect scientific information bearing on existing or potential issues, the association would set up a two-way avenue of communication within the scientific community through special committees and conferences.

Public reports would then be issued in forms suited to a broad level of understanding. The objective would not be to recommend a course of action, but to expand the base of knowledge upon which public decisions could be made.

An informed public is vital to the orderly existence of free peoples. No longer can scientific knowledge be left in the intellectual stratosphere. Its effects are all about us.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Shades Of The Past

A large clue to "liberal" economic thinking was provided by Senator Kennedy in some TV remarks this week.

The Presidential contender said Congress, when it resumes next month should increase defense appropriations by $2.5 billion to $3 billion. This, he suggested, would not only improve the nation's military position but help ward off a recession which he sees threatening early next year.

Regarding America's defense position, the burden of proof, it seems to us, rests on those who insist it is inadequate.

Certainly the objective evidence indicates that the U.S. has the most powerful military establishment in the world, as indeed it should have when we are spending around $41 billion each year on it.

A heedless piling up of more billions could well make matters worse rather than better.

In any case, the idea of boosting defense funds to make more "prosperity" reflects a fairly crude approach to economics. Military spending is a necessary evil; it produces little of value to the economy.

To use it in such a way is just wasteful pump-priming, and the record of pump-priming is pretty poor anyway. You would think we were still fighting our way out of the Great Depression.

That, indeed, is what is so revealing. These liberal politicians pride themselves on demanding new, forward-looking programs for the new times.

Yet when they get down to cases they sound as though they were living not in 1960 but in 1935.

The Allen-Scott Report

Lost Demo Plank

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Los Angeles — There is a piece of strangely unfinished business of the Democratic Convention that is going to be aired on the floor of the Senate when it reconvenes August 8. (Conn.), a member of the platform committee, has served notice on party leaders that he will raise the case of a mysteriously lost plank dealing with Americans imprisoned in Red China and Russia.

As drafted by Dodd and unclered: "We will continue to make every effort to effect the release of American civilians and servicemen now unjustly imprisoned in Red China and elsewhere in the Communist empire."

Exactly how and why this plank vanished from the printed version of the platform is baffling. Dodd is still as much in the dark on that as when it happened several days ago.

All his backstage efforts to get at the bottom of this curious affair have been thwarted by retiring National Chairman Paul Butler.

That is another odd aspect of this bewildering matter that is outraging Dodd.

"The convention may not have been rigged," said Dodd bitterly to Senator Hubert Humphrey, Minn., "but Butler sure mishandled it."

"That seems to be the general feeling," agreed Humphrey. "It's astonishing how many people have complaints and grievances against him. It almost seems as if he went out of his way to antagonize and be provocative."

"Yes," added Dodd, "and this is also certain. He is one ex-National Chairman who will never be missed."

Furious over the mysterious deletion of his plank, Senator Dodd sought to reach Rep. Chester Bowles, Conn., for an explanation. Dodd was told Bowles was "unavailable" because he was then on the rostrum presenting the platform to the convention.

Aides of Bowles advised Dodd to take up the matter with Butler, as he had handled the printing of the platform. Dodd called him immediately.

"What happened to my plank on our prisoners behind the Iron Curtain," he demanded. "Why isn't it in the printed platform? Who cut it out and on what grounds?"

"There must be some mistake," replied Butler. "I'll say there is," snorted Dodd. "A big mistake, and I want it corrected."

"It's too late," announced Butler. "The platform is before the convention, and nothing can be done about this."

"I'm a fully accredited delegate," declared Dodd, "and I am going to offer my plank as an amendment to the platform from the convention floor."

"You can't do that," asserted Butler. "The platform committee voted that none of its members would offer amendments from the floor. You agreed to that."

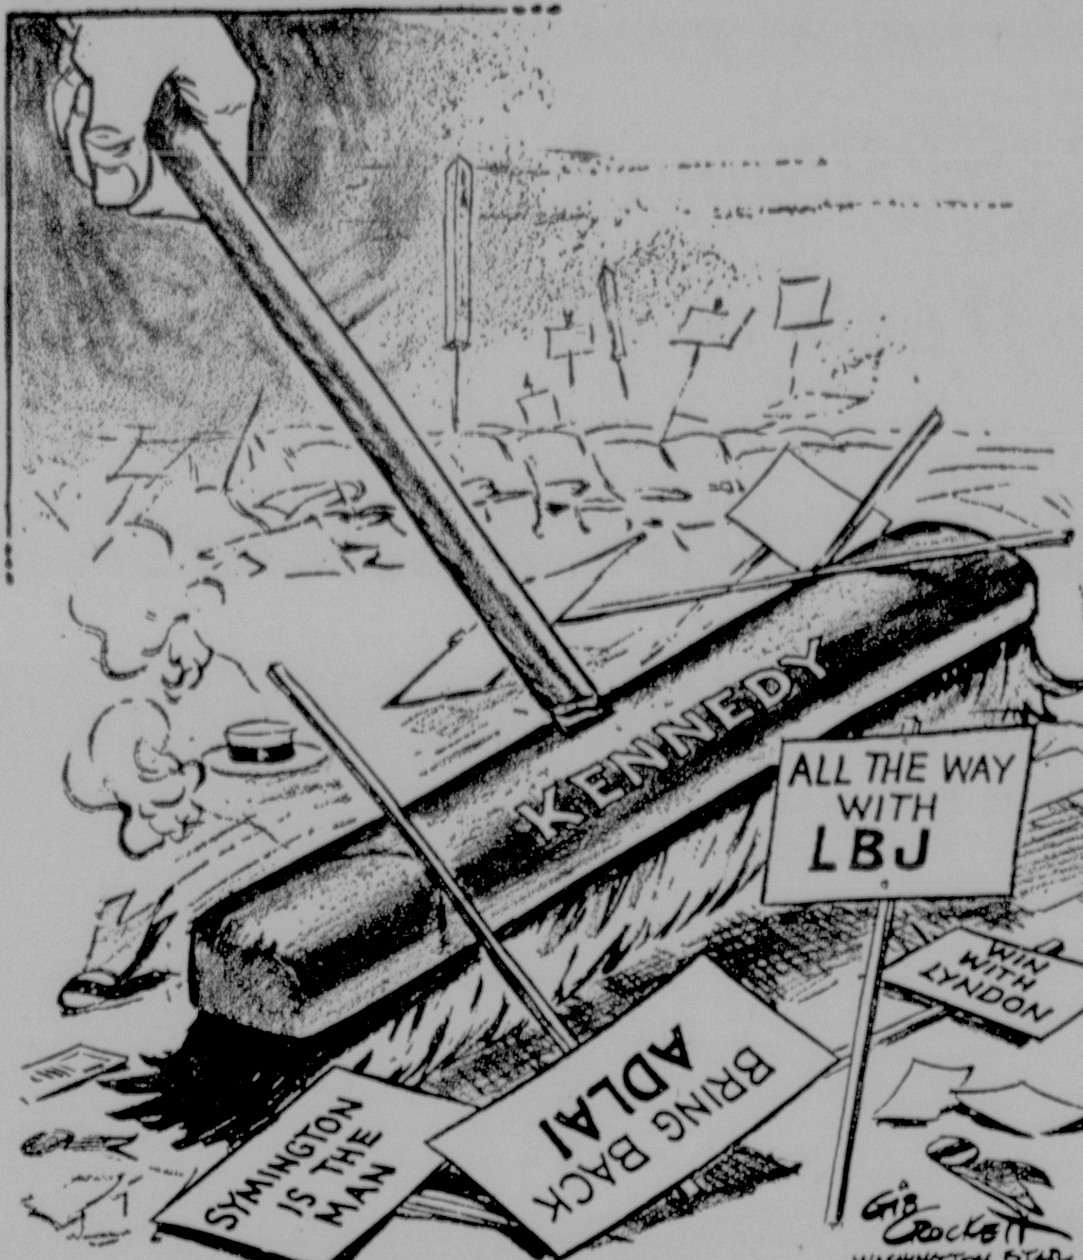

Retorted Dodd, "But nothing was said about leaving adopted planks out of the platform. My plank was unanimously approved by the full committee, and I cannot understand why it was not included in the printed platform."

"You cannot get the floor for this purpose," snapped Butler. "It's too late to do anything about this. And that is all there is to it."

But Dodd vehemently does not see it that way.

"There is something I can do about this," he told Senator Humphrey, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee. "When the Senate reconvenes, I am going to take the floor and blast Butler for his inexcusable bungling on this matter."

Dodd is a member of the Senate Internal Security Committee, which is planning to study the Administration's efforts to liberate Americans imprisoned by the Reds. The Committee contemplates a series of hearings on this.

The Show That Never Got On The Road

Veteran's Guide

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran, eligible under the new pension law to collect pension for myself and daughter. She is unmarried but over 18, although she is going to college. I understand this makes a difference in the age limit and that I can continue receiving pension on her behalf until she is 21, because of her school attendance. Is this so?

A—Yes, but the school must, of course, be one satisfactory to VA, for instance a college or high school where regular educational objectives are offered and regular periods of attendance maintained. While the unmarried child is attending such an approved school, pension payments may be made for the child until age 21.

Q—I can't find my discharge paper and I want to apply for a VA benefit. How do I go about getting another discharge?

A—Write to the Department of Defense, Military Personnel Records Center, 9700 Page Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. Tell them your branch of service and your service number. There is no charge for replacements.

Q—I have a service-connected disability. Can my family doctor treat my disability and send his bill to the VA?

A—If he has prior approval from VA, yes. Under law, that is necessary before he may treat your service-connected condition at Government expense.

Q—I am over 18 and eligible to go to school under the War Orphans Education Act. If I do go to school, I understand I cannot continue receiving the death compensation checks I now get from VA. Would these checks stop automatically as soon as I filed application for war orphans schooling and before my first school check came?

A—No. Your election of benefits would not be considered final until after your first war orphans school allowance had been paid to you, or an administrative allowance had been paid to your school.

Q—Do creditors have any right to seize proceeds of a GI insurance policy to get money owed them? I am the beneficiary of my veteran-husband's GI insurance policy. He owed a few bills at his death, which I fully intend to pay.

A—Proceeds of a GI insurance policy are exempted by law from any claims of private creditors. The proceeds may not be seized or attached to.

Q—Is a disabled veteran taking rehabilitation training allowed time off for days when he can't be in school or on the job?

A—Yes, that is permissible. However, trainees must report their classroom or other absences, using the special Certification of Training form for that purpose, and wherever possible, permission to be absent must be requested and approved.

Reports From Congress

Anderson Plan

By Congressional Quarterly Washington — The hottest potato on the legislative platter when Congress returns in August will be a proposal for medical care for the aged introduced June 30 by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.).

The Anderson plan is destined to become the focal point in one of the biggest issues Congress will attempt to resolve in its concluding session: whether or not to establish medical benefit payments for the aged as an integral part of the Social Security system.

Anderson's proposal has been pushed to the center of the stage as a moderate measure standing the best chance of adoption. It keeps benefits within narrower limits than similar, earlier Democratic plans proposed by Rep. Almon C. Forand (D-R.I.) and Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.), but retains the key feature: medical insurance self-financed through Social Security taxes.

Observers predict that if any plan to finance health benefits for the aged through Social Security gets through Congress in August, the Anderson plan will be the one.

The AFL-CIO, which says it is "irrevocably committed" to establishment of the Social Security principle in health care for the aged, has swung behind the proposal.

The American Medical Assn. is expected to oppose it with the same vigor it has opposed all earlier Social Security health-care measures. The AMA fears any such plan would be the "foot in the door" for eventual socialization of medicine in the United States.

The major selling point of Anderson's plan over earlier versions is its reduced cost. It has been designed carefully to hold benefits within the scope of the extra revenues which would be provided by the proposal's tax provisions, which would raise payroll taxes by one-quarter of 1 percent each for employers and employees, and by three-eighths of 1 percent for self-employed persons.

Benefits in any 12-month period would include up to 365 days of hospital care, 180 days of skilled nursing-home care following transfer from a hospital, and up to 365 days of visiting-nursing service in the home.

However, benefits would be restricted to persons 65 or over, the patient would pay the first $75 of hospital care as well as $75 of any hospitalization in excess of 24 days, surgery, physicians' fees and drugs outside the hospital would not be covered, and coverage would be limited to one continuous period of treatment, thus excluding short, sporadic visits to the hospital.

Anderson has proposed that his plan be tacked on to the Social Security bill passed June 23 by the House. He said it would supplement, rather than replace, the limited health-care program provided in the House bill. The House program called for matching state and federal grants to provide assistance to the low income aged, rather than financing through Social Security taxes.

Administration Proposal—The Eisenhower Administration has its own program for the aged, calling for federal and state grants to set up a "medicare program" through which the low-income aged could receive medical benefits by paying a $4 enrollment fee. As an alternative, participants could receive subsidies to help pay for their private health-insurance policies. The Administration also has proposed that its plan be used to supplement the House program, but the proposal has little chance of adoption in the Democratic Congress. The plan was incorporated in a bill introduced June 30 by Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R. Mass.).

Chances for the Anderson plan have been confused by events at the Democratic National Convention. A number of reports said Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) had promised to push a Social Security program for the aged through Congress in August if labor leaders agreed to support—or at least not to veto—his candidacy for the Democratic Presidential nomination, but the Johnson camp, and labor figures themselves, have denied any such deal, and labor leaders at the convention reportedly turned thumbs down on Johnson's bid for the nomination.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Secretary Of State

Nearly as important as the President will be the next Secretary of State. Upon his shoulders will fall the responsibility of finding an honorable road to dealing with the Soviet world.

He will need to be knowledgeable, experienced, a competent administrator, capable of controlling his desinen and also fighting off the opinionated Senators who seek to force upon the world their private views. This means that we shall have to have a man whom the nation respects.

If Richard Nixon is elected, it depends upon who runs for Vice President as to who the Secretary of State will be. The favorite for both the Vice Presidency and the Secretaryship of State is Henry Cabot Lodge.

If Lodge runs as Vice President, he will, of course, not be appointed Secretary of State, although he would be the most competent Republican for it. In those circumstances, a strong effort will be made to divorce Thomas E. Dewey from an extremely lucrative law practice. Dewey could be relied upon not to be beguiled by the Kremlin. He would, however, not be as acceptable to Congress as Lodge would be.

In the event that neither Dewey nor Lodge should be available, Sen. Styles Bridges may be asked to serve in this position. Before Gov. Nelson Rockefeller became so obnoxious, his name was heard as a possibility but it is heard no more. The incumbent, Christian Herter, would not be considered.

Should the Democrats be elected, it is likely that Chester Bowles, Adlai Stevenson, or Sen. Fulbright might be considered. It would be most logical for the Democrats to restore Dean Acheson to that position as his current views seem to be the most sound expressed by anyone in the Democratic Party. He adds to knowledge and experience wisdom which such a man as Adlai Stevenson does not seem to possess.

In fact, the mere suggestion of making Adlai Stevenson Secretary of State frightens those who still hope to preserve the United States as a nation.

The difference between Stevenson and Acheson is that the former seems to learn nothing either by experience or from knowledge.

Having adopted a doctrinaire position sometime before 1952, he cannot change no matter what the course of events does to his assumptions.

He has no sense of timing. No matter what harm it may do to the United States, he utters words and assumes positions which can only give aid and comfort to the enemy.

As a former State Department employee, he knows all about the spying that is done by Soviet Russia and for that matter, the spying that we do. His innocent demeanor about the U-2 was an absurdity. Whom did he think he was kidding?

Unfortunately when men are so ambitious that they believe their own publicity, they can do the nation as a whole great mischief.

There can be little doubt that public statements by Stevenson and other Democrats encouraged Khrushchev, who cannot understand our form of government, to believe that it would be to his advantage not to continue negotiations with President Eisenhower, knowing that he will cease to be President in January.

Such a speech as Paul Butler delivered on the opening night of the Democratic Convention must have pleased Khrushchev. It gave one the feeling that Khrushchev was calling the shots and writing the platitudes.

The danger is that Khrushchev will believe that this country is really sharply divided and that a large part of the American people are so antagonistic to President Eisenhower that they are favorably disposed to the Kremlin. Surely a speech such as Paul Butler's will give courage to Castro and other Kremlin slaves in Latin America.

Sen. Frank Church's speech was not much better in those sections which dealt with foreign policy. He, too, failed to recognize the delicacy of the moment; the danger of strengthening the enemy.

Sen. Church is an anti-Communist but unfortunately he tried to mix his anti-Communism with anti-Eisenhower and produced an explosive mish-mash.

The Democrats need a Secretary of State who can think in terms of national interest and not how to get even with Republicans. In fact, during the next four years, it will not matter much whether the Secretary of State is a Republican or a Democrat, as long as he is patriotic and has a measure of common sense.

Health Column

Baby's Growth

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D. "Doctor, my baby is six months old and weighs 13½ pounds. She seems healthy, but I think she should weigh a little more. Also, she hasn't cut any teeth yet. Is this normal?"

In answering this query from a reader I would like to say first that I believe a 11-month-old baby should be under the watchful eye of a pediatrician or a family doctor until they are at least a year old and preferably older.

Only a doctor who is familiar with a particular baby's history can make an accurate appraisal as to proper weight and general health.

Some Generalities However, I can offer a few generalities which might be of help to this mother and some of the rest of you as well.

In general, a six-month-old baby is about 25 or 26 inches in length and probably weighs about 15 or 16 pounds. While some youngsters have a tooth or two at this age, the average infant won't cut his first tooth until some time after he reaches the age of six months.

Weight Gain Most babies, you see, will gain between five and eight ounces each week until they are three months old. By the time an infant is four months, he will probably weigh in the vicinity of 12 pounds or so.

From four months to one year, you can expect him to put on about 1½ pounds each month.

This means that at nine months he will weigh around 19 pounds, maybe a little less. He will be 27 or 28 inches in length.

By the time he is one year old, he will weigh about 22 pounds and will be approximately 30 inches tall.

Influencing Factors Now these, I must stress once again, are generalities. Family history, personality, body structure and many other things tend to influence height and weight. Therefore, you can't compare your baby to the one next door and expect both to be the same height and weight at the same age.

As for developing in other ways, here are a few more generalities.

Child's Vision Although a baby hears well at birth, he doesn't see well. He won't be able to recognize his mother until he is about two months old. He really begins to see her when he is about four months and by the time he is one year he recognizes all members of the family.

A baby can raise his head within a few days after birth. He begins rolling about by the age of four months or so, and can sit up by himself by the age of seven months. Some even try to stand up at seven months.

QUESTION AND ANSWER M. M.: What is the best method of preventing bed sores in an elderly person?

Answer: Bed sores are caused by prolonged pressure on the skin.

They can be prevented by moving the person to different positions often during the day, and by keeping the skin dry.

A special type of mattress to change the pressure to different areas of the body has been devised.

Midnight Press Conference

Is the health of candidates an important campaign issue?

If perfect physical condition is presented as a vital Presidential qualification, then FDR should never have been elected. A White House campaign is not a weight-lifting contest.

While physical stamina is important, a President's chief qualifications are mental, moral and spiritual. Americans were never concerned with Thomas Jefferson's blood pressure or George Washington's pulse. Abraham Lincoln's greatness was not determined by a blood test. In other words, leadership is a President's primary qualification. Whether he has that quality cannot be determined by doctors. It will be determined by the people — and history. The White House doesn't need an Atlas. It just needs a Man.

Did you witness Walter Lippmann's teevee debut?

It was an extremely effective performance. In the field of foreign affairs he is provocative and enlightening. Television desperately needs such newscasting heavyweights. The average TV newscaster offers more sound than light.

Why are the Cuban Reds risking economic disaster by making alliances with the enemies of the United States?

Perhaps they know Americans are soft touches. They know we forgive and forget. No matter what Cuba's Communists do to damage their economy — the United States will come to the rescue with food, medicine and money. We will rebuild their homes, their cities and their industries. We did it for the Germans, the Japanese and the Italians. Opposing the United States seems to be the easiest way to get rich. With the aid of U. S. taxpayers, of course.

Why have we decided on a showdown with Communist Castro?

Castro's actions represent a deliberate violation of international agreements as well as an

Three Arrested For Cutting Rhododendron

THREE MEN from New York State were committed to the Monroe County Jail yesterday charged with trespassing by the Buck Hill Falls Co.

The men arrested by Barrett Chief of Police Harry Campbell are Justin Harrington, 35, of Narrowsburg, N.Y.; William Davenport 29, and Lloyd Harty, 48, both of Livingston Manor, N.Y.

The men were given a hearing before Clifford L. Bush, justice of the peace in Cresco, on the trespassing charge and were returned to the jail in default of a $10 fine each and costs.

Bush said last night, "The men had cut rhododendron plants in sprays of about three feet in length. The men said they were going to take them back home and sell them to the local funeral directors."

"When arrested they had approximately 16 bundles, containing about 100 cuttings per bundle. The men said they (the bundles) would have sold for about $1.75 each."

"There is one other charge pending and it may be dropped providing the men pay their fines, costs and leave the state never to come back," Bush added. He said the charge involves the unlawful cutting of greens.

Zone Heating Studied For Court House

A PLAN for zone heating in the Monroe County Court House will be considered by the Monroe County Commissioners at their meeting Monday.

The plan was referred to Rinker and Klefer Architects by the commissioners at their meeting Thursday.

Klefer said last night, "We will present a scheme to the commissioners at their meeting Monday. The scheme does not contain a quote on price but lists the items we feel are necessary for the job."

Study Made

"From our survey conducted in the past few days we have found that different rooms in the building are used at different times during the day. This will permit some of the rooms to be controlled by one thermostat while in other sections of the building several rooms may be controlled by another thermostat."

Also authorized at the commissioners' meeting was the purchase of a new gas range and gas oven to be installed in the county home.

The contract was awarded to Pocono Gas Co., Cresco, at a bid of $210 for the range and $696 for the oven.

The new units will replace the coal fired units now in the home.

Trucker Held After Crash In Borough

A NEW YORK man was arrested on a charge of driving too fast for conditions following the accident of two tractor-trailers at the intersection of Morningside and Park Aves., Stroudsburg, late Thursday night.

Leon J. Briggs, 32, of Penn Yan RD 2, N.Y., was arrested by Stroudsburg Police and given a hearing before Justice of the Peace John Foelker, Stroudsburg.

Briggs pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. He paid his fine and was released.

Briggs, operating a 1956 truck, was traveling north on Route 611 at the time of the crash.

Highway Wet

He told investigating officers Loren Doty and Russell Decker, "I came into the curve a little too fast. I applied my brakes but with the road very wet from the rain the trailer began to lean and then jack-knifed."

As Briggs' trailer was sliding the second tractor-trailer, driven by Charles Meixsell, 43, of 53 Front St., Belvidere, N.J., approached heading south.

Meixsell said, "I stepped on the gas and pulled my truck to the right hoping that my cab would clear the trailer as it looked as if it were going to turn over. It might have turned over had it not hit my trailer."

Police estimated damages at $500 to the Briggs tractor-trailer and $700 or more to the Meixsell vehicle.

Driver Hurt In Accident On Route 611

ADRIAN Tewksbury, 22, of East Stroudsburg RD 2, was slightly injured yesterday at 3 a.m. in an automobile accident on Route 611 two miles north of Stroudsburg in Trout Township.

State Police said Tewksbury received a laceration of the left eyelid and abrasions of the left shoulder. He was treated at the Monroe County General Hospital and released.

At the time of the accident Tewksbury was traveling south on Route 611. He ran off the side of the highway and struck a telephone pole. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

Automobile Club Moving Offices

POCONO MOUNTAINS Motor Club is moving its office today to new and larger quarters at 27 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg.

The new location is in the former residential building recently renovated by Daniel G. Warner, who also owns the adjoining property at 23 N. Ninth St.

Youth Fined On Reckless Driving Count

EDWARD Fish, 18, of 250 Mary St., East Stroudsburg, received a bruised forehead and was arrested for reckless driving as the result of a two-car accident at 7:30 p.m. yesterday on Route 402 at Minisink Hills.

According to State Police of the local barracks, Fish was pulling away from the post office at Minisink Hills when his vehicle collided head-on with a car driven by Paul A. Wilson, 40, Yardley.

Troopers said Fish told them he was blinded by the sun. Wilson, who saw the crash coming, had stopped his car before Fish's vehicle hit it. No estimate of damages was available.

Dear Abby

Go Him One Better

Dear Abby: There is one person in our office who gets on our nerves. He is a "sentence finisher." No matter what anyone says, he is right there to finish the sentence.

For instance, if I say, "Walking out of an air-conditioned bar and into the street is just like walking into . . .", he will butt in and say, ". . . an oven!" I know this might seem like a petty problem, but I wish there were some way of breaking him of this annoying habit.

Dear Co-Worker: Fight fire with fire. No matter what the "sentence finisher" says, finish HIM off with an improvement on his "finish." Should he say (as cited in your example above) ". . . an oven," simply counter with, "No — a steam bath!"

Dear Abby: I was married young and had five children in eight years. My husband turned out to be no good so I got rid of him the only way a decent woman gets rid of a man — through the divorce court. Three years later I married the most marvelous man who ever walked in shoe leather. He has been a real father to my children. I told all the children to use their new father's name in school. I never went through any legal rignarole, but after eleven years everybody knows the children by my second husband's name. Is it necessary for me to do anything now about having their names "legally" changed? Or is it just automatic after a certain period of time?

MRS. F. J. T.

Dear Mrs. F. J. T.: In order for any name change to be legal and valid, it must be approved by the court. A lawyer can tell you how to go about it.

Dear Abby: I am a boy of 15 and can't swim. The reason is simple: I am afraid of the water. I have tried several times to learn, but I can't conquer that fear. I even threw myself in the deep end of the pool (this theory is "swim or drown") but someone had to come in and get me.

Do you or any of your readers know a way to overcome fear of water at my age? Or am I too old?

AFFRAID OF WATER

Dear Abigail: Many men have learned to swim in their forties and fifties. Enroll in a swimming class. Your local "Y" or Red Cross offers classes free or for a very small fee. Good Luck!

Confidential to Virginia: "Ugliness" is a point of view. An ulcer is wonderful to the pathologist.

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Pocono Pros Brush Off Bad Weather

THE POCONO Professional Golfers' Assn. showed its colors yesterday.

Rather than take a chance on losing interest in a good thing, the group held its weekly pro-am event in a down-pour and still got a respectable turnout of its members.

Several pros in the group who did not show up, said that they wanted to play but their amateur partners wouldn't play in the rain.

Sam Kinder, PGA president and Walt Thiel, Water Gap Country Club and host pro for yesterday's event, set the precedent for future events on foul weather days.

"If the course is open on the day our tournaments are scheduled," the pair said, "we will play the events, regardless of the weather."

The Pocono Manor Amateur Invitation Golf Tournament will be held Thursday, July 28.

The 18-hole medal play event will be run in flights with a 25 handicap limit.

Baseball Tournament Seeks Entries

The Schautz Baseball Tournament, at Dunmore, is interested in entries from the Pocono area. The adult team tourney is booked Aug. 15.

All-star teams are not allowed and teams must be a member of a league.

Entries are being accepted at Schautz Memorial Stadium, 1209 Prescott Ave., Dunmore, Pa.

Tonight's softball doubleheader at East Stroudsburg Memorial Stadium, could be a preview of the State Major Tournament finals coming up next month in Stroudsburg.

Twin City TV, the defending champs hold title to two of the best pitchers in the State, Stan Tchorz and Tom Lind and Volpi Builders of Philadelphia, the Eastern United States champ, is building toward the State Crown.

Cramer Buys Tickets For Kids

Cliff Cramer, one of the owners of R. C. Cramer Lumber Co., has bought tickets to tonight's game for all the players and managers of both his major and minor teams in the East Stroudsburg Little League.

All proceeds from the game go to The Daily Record Summer Camp Fund, which will help send Monroe County deserving children to camp for a week.

Jess Richardson, the Philadelphia Eagles' big defensive tackle, who had his best season in seven Philadelphia campaigns last year, is a good bet to report as a Pro-Bowl Game selector this season.

Opening day at the Eagles' Hershey training camp is still a week away, but Richardson is already at his normal playing weight and has been running windprints and other exercises for a month.

And the Eagles may have the breakthrough back they have been looking for since Steve Van Buren retired in Ted Dean a rookie from the University of Wichita and former Radnor High School speedster.

Torzillo Sweeps Stroudsburg Track Meet With 28 Points

MIKE TORZILLO placed in eight of 10 events, to win the Stroudsburg Playground 12 and under track meet Friday, with 28 points.

Second place went to Carl Weichel with 16 points, while Don Smith and Skip Kintz tied for third. Both had 13 points.

Torzillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Torzillo of 120 Hemlock St., won the standing broad jump, high jump, the bag race and obstacle race.

Two Seconds
He was second in the running broad jump and 50-yard dash and third in the 100-yard dash and football throw.

Weichel won both the 50 and 100-yard dashes and

Hill Climb To Feature Close Battle

THIS year's running of the Giants Despair Hill Climb in Wilkes-Barre on July 30, is expected to produce a tight contest between John Myer, who placed second overall last year, and Bud Faust, Kingston.

Faust's Ferrari-Corvette won the Duryea Climb at Reading this year, and placed second at the Pocono Climb in Bushkill. Myer's Special had second fastest time of day on the Giants Despair course last year and this year has been fitted with a Scarab body.

Both machines are entered for this year's climb.

Fast Course
In addition, a section of the hill, from Wilkes-Barre's East Northampton St. up to Laurel Run, is being resurfaced, making the course faster than last year.

Another car expected to attract considerable interest is the Kelsco Auto Dynamics entry, a Cooper with Porsche engine that is built especially for hill climbing competition.

Local entries include Alex Coles of Shawnee and Bill Cooke of East Stroudsburg, both driving Austin-Healeys, and Janet Possinger of Mt. Pocono, driving her Triumph TR-3. All three are members of the Pocono Mountain Sports Car Association.

Practice runs are scheduled for July 29 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The timed runs for record will be made July 30 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

As a part of the Giants Despair weekend there will be drag racing with classes for sports cars at Forty Fort airport, sponsored by the Northeastern Pennsylvania Timers Association on July 31 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

World's Fastest Softball Pitcher Here Tonight

BILL STERLING, "The Bobby Feller of Softball," will pitch the second game of tonight's Twin City TV-Volpi Builders of Philadelphia benefit softball game at East Stroudsburg Memorial Stadium.

Proceeds from the games, sponsored by the Daily Record, will be used to send deserving Monroe County Children to summer camp. The first game starts at 7 p.m.

Sterling, who has averaged 17 strikeouts a game over a 10-year period, throws a fastball that has been clocked at almost 100 miles per hour.

Faster Than Feller
Throwing into an electrical timing device Sterling's pitch was recorded as traveling 98.7 mph, a tenth of a mile faster than the Army Signal Corps timed Bob Feller's fast ball some years ago.

Tom Lind, who has a string of one-hitters going, will face Sterling in the second game.

Lind has tossed three straight one-hit games in the Eastern City and East Penn League. He has been averaging more than 15 strikeouts a game this season.

Stan Tchorz, the other half of Twin City's "Thunderbolt

Twins," will work the opener.

No Runs
The most valuable pitcher in the Pennsylvania Major Softball Tournament last year, funct Norristown Blocks, where he earned the reputation of having "the world's fastest pitch."

Veterans of the Norristown team say that Sterling is as good a pitcher as Ed Feigner, the fabulous pitcher of the "King and His Court" team. Feigner uses only three other players on his team, a catcher, shortstop and first baseman.

Power Hitters

The Volpi club built its offense around power hitting third baseman Pete Caniglia and shortstop Joe Vallenti. Both have won several batting titles in the Philadelphia area.

Volpi has a 12-4 record this year, with wins over the Connecticut and Maryland State Champions and Neuwelters of Allentown.

The Builders split a doubleheader with Twin City at Philadelphia earlier this season.

Twin City with an 8-3 mark this season, has posted one of the outstanding records in Pennsylvania in its six years of operation.

The club has won 148 and lost only 30. Sixteen of the wins were by no-hitters.

Great Variety Of Talent Exhibited At Art Show

By Christine and Robert Wolbach
COURTHOUSE Square seemed to burst into bloom last Friday and Saturday as the Pocono Mountains Art Group held its Ninth Annual Outdoor Art Show.

Both days were ideal for exhibitors and exhibitors as the sun illuminated the colorful paintings, lending a carnival atmosphere to the scene.

The grass, trees and sun set off the bright paintings on a perfect July afternoon. The show revealed great development of some of the area artists, emphasizing the growth of the show in the past three years.

Congratulations are due to past president Otto Christ for his new adventures in oils. Jesse Weiss, the show's lone photographer, shows a talented eye for minutiae and a full sense of composition.

Peter Heiden, the teuton master from Mt. Bethel, brings Europe to the Poconos as he masterfully interpreted scenes encountered on his recent European trip.

Sterling Strauser produced some powerful art with his staccato draftsmanship. Henry Evans' work, done in the modern idiom, reveals his talent.

Edward Maps, the show's sole social critic of the canvas, sliced and commented with his two paintings. Arthur Widmer, who has done so much for the Art Group, showed a clear interpretation of local scenes.

Agnes Dyer and Nancy Hebard used subtleties of color to make their work effective, and Dorothy Strauser tried several mediums to produce her effects.

Glenn Randolph used robust brushwork on her displays, and Mona Fitzgerald, wife of Art Group president Frank Fitzgerald, has become a skillful painter with the passing shows.

Francis Meredith, Alice Sutton, Henrietta Hobbs, Mary Schutt, Robert Hickey, Helen Ecker, Ellen Archer, Carla Holmgren, Victoria Francisco and Stan Smith showed the trend toward paintings of the locality.

Many guests, groups and artists lent variety to the show. These were C. I. Dreisbach, Allentown; Donald Johnson of Bath; Janet L. Hughes, Easton; J. Carroll Tobias of the Bethlehem Palette Club; Donald Ross of the Kittatinny Art Group; and Pennsylvanians Joe DeThomas and Eschur Caldwell.

Thanks are due to Olivia Dreher and Robert Logan for conceiving of the show nine years ago. To their efforts and organizational ability are due the credit for the show's success. The next show will be August 19 and 20.

The new radars, which have a range of 60 miles and reach an altitude of 25,000 feet, are designed to facilitate handling of high speed jets landing and taking off.

Cities scheduled for ASR-4 radars include Harrisburg, Pa., Pittsburgh and Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

TOUR AND GUESS — These two rooms are straight from two homes to be included on the Homes Tour, Wednesday, sponsored by the Federation of Women's Clubs. The room in the top picture was originally two rooms, the rugs were made by the owner and the grandfather clock belonged to her grandparents. The double-double beds of the bottom picture are covered by bedspreads of the family. The cover on the back bed was hand knit over a period of seven years by the owner, while the one on the front bed was painstakingly put together generations ago. Make the tour on Wednesday and match the house to the pictures.

Homes Tour To Include Twelve Homes Of Monroe County Sponsored By Area Women's Clubs

Twelve homes will be opened to the public Wednesday by the arrangement of the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Homes included on the tour are in the Stroudsburg and surrounding areas.

Tickets may be purchased at Lloyd's Sport Shop, East Stroudsburg, Flagler's Drug Store, Stroudsburg or from any member of a women's club. The tickets are in the form of a program. On the program ticket are listed all of the homes with the exception of one.

The one exception is the home of Jan Linderman, RD 2, Stroudsburg. The owner and resident of the home, a man, just recently made arrangements for his home to be shown. The oldest of the houses, it was built in 1795 and has been completely restored. It features the new and the old plus a terrace out of door area complete with fountains. Large windows bring the out of doors indoors.

To get to Linderman's home go West on Route 209 and turn right at Chestnut Hill Inn, continue past Phoebe's Waxworks on the dirt road aside St. Luke's Methodist Church and go up a long hill until you come to the mailbox of Lange and Werkheiser, turn left and take the next right turn at Stenger's mailbox, follow dirt road three tenths of a mile until you enter Linderman's at a rustic board gate. This home is included in the one admission.

Directions for the rest of the homes are included on the program-ticket.

Other homes are "Max-Wal," home of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Smiley, RD 2, Saylorsburg. This is a 135 year old stone house with spacious lawns, a swimming pool and barbecue patio. The home of the Honorable Chester H. Rhodes and his wife, located in Kellersville is 130 years old. Mrs. Rhodes is prepared to tell the history of this house from the time that it was first built as one of six houses to its present day appearance. The house has six working fireplaces and a sitting room of Louis XVI furniture among other features.

"Bond Brook," the home of Olive P. Bond, Brodheadsville, has been in her family since her father built it some hundred years ago. The second floor features a soft yellow decor and throughout the house are items fashioned from products from nearby the home. The steps have been done in wood from a maple tree that was felled when a highway went through the site.

Even though the house is so new that the landscaping has not been completed, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Russell of Saylorsburg have opened their home. The house is situated high on a hill giving full view of hills and valleys.

In Cresco, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Miller, who are antique collectors display within their home a tinware collection of early cooking implements and steins.

The E. Kenney Crothers of Buck Hill Falls have named their home "Open House." The colonial type house features large Williamsburg windows which overlook the golf course.

"Easy Living" the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pfeiffer, Star Route, East Stroudsburg, is a four year old ranch type house with patio. The white house is accented by a red door.

Attorney and Mrs. Elmer D. Christine of 15 Smith St., Stroudsburg are opening their 45 year old white frame house, large enough for a family of seven to the homes tour.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Cummings, 435 Quentin Rd., Stroudsburg is a new gray and white aluminum siding home with three car garage, four bedrooms and two and one half bathrooms.

The Jack Mullins, 35 year old white brick home combines early American furniture with antiques. The home is located at 514 Brown St., Stroudsburg.

Have you ever seen an old barn that you think would be perfect made into a house? Mr. and Mrs. John S. Muller, RD 1 Stroudsburg have done just that. They are living in a newly remodeled ranch type home made from a farm barn.

These houses will be marked with markers so that the touring public is not left completely on its own. Most of the homes are open from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. with the exception of two.

Women's Clubs included in the sponsoring Federation are the Womans Club of Stroudsburg, the Progressive Womans Club, Stroud Community Club, Barrett Community Club and the Stroudsburg Junior Womans Club.

Just Between Us—

—By Bobby Westbrook

Rome: Sunday I may get used to the mixture of centuries, of the trivial with the majestic, of the ordinary with the exotic, of the ancient past with not just the present but with the future. Tonight, for instance, we went down to the Roman Forum where they are staging special shows "Conjuring up Ancient Rome in Sound and Light".

Broadcast in stereophonic sound in four languages beamed at a particular section of the stadium the highlights of the forum are picked out by fingers, floods and glows of light with 500 projectors keyed in with the sound track, with magnetic bands coordinating the music of the 100 piece Orchestra of the Accademia di Santa Cecilia, accompanied by 80 singers of its Chorus.

That information we gathered from the program while we were waiting for the program to begin. It was a pleasant climax to a restful day spent washing hair, doing nails, sunbathing on the terrace and generally getting the kinks of travel out of our systems. We drove in after dinner in traffic that reminded me of Main Street on Saturday night — parked by the Coliseum and walked up the old Roman paving stones through the Arch of Titus and into the stands, which have been erected at one side of the Forum. There were ushers with programs—foam cushions on the benches—a soft breeze blowing cold through the palms and cypress trees and a half moon just sinking in the dark blue sky.

Reading about the mechanics of the show however, didn't prepare us for the chill that went down your back as the lights on the stands went out and a sound as of a great bronze gong echoed through the ghostly columns, the music swelled and one light gleamed from an ancient arch and the story of Rome as it had been told in the Forum began some 2700 years ago.

Lights grew on separate ruins as the story unfolded — the screams of the Sabine women — the shouts of triumph of the triumphal processions through the arches, the fires of the vestal virgins, the speeches of Caesar and Marc Anthony, of Cicero, and Virgil—the song of Nero and the red flicker of the fires that consumed Rome reflecting from the same marble, echoing against the same walls as they really did.
